

server-Dispatch a, while Lisa Myers, Fla., irie Canal. b part of the

New Hartford dissolves citizen budget panel

'I thought we had some impact,' a former panel member says

By ALLISSA KLINE Observer-Dispatch akline@utica.gannett.com

NEW HARTFORD – Town residents will not participate this fall in drafting the 2007 town of New Hartford budget, town officials said Monday.

Unlike the past two years, citizens have not been invited to sit in on committee meetings between Town Board members and department leaders.

William Jenkins of Slaytonbush Lane, one of four members of last year's committee, said residents' participation is necessary when putting together a financial plan for the town.

"They should have our input," Jenkins said. "I know last time we were there, we had quite a bit of input as far as what could be approved or not approved on the budget."

Town Supervisor Earle Reed said residents will have a chance to comment on the proposed budget at a public hearing in November.

"My philosophy is, citizens don't have all the information we have," Reed said. "My (department) leaders have too many things going on to sit with residents on the committee."

A tentative 2007 town budget must be submitted no later than Sept. 30 to Town Clerk Gail Wolanin Young, who then can release copies of the budget to the public. The board, mean-

THE COMMITTEE

► The four-member New Hartford Citizens Budget Review Committee was approved two years ago by the Town Board.

▶ The committee sat in on budget meetings between town officials and department leaders.

► Town Supervisor Earle Reed said the committee will not meet this year as part of the formal budget discussions. The public still will have a chance to comment on the proposed 2007 budget during a public hearing, which must take place no later than Nov. 9.

III INSIDE: O-D files Freedom of Information request to see draft of budget, 2A while, will continue to modify the budget. A final budget must be adopted no later than Nov. 20.

Not involving residents in the creation of the town's budget after a prior history of doing so hinders the idea of transparency in government, said Judy Nadler, a senior fellow at the Markkula Center for Applied Ethics at Santa Clara University in California.

"It's clear at one point the town embraced that notion of having the public involved," Nadler said. "Now it raises a red flag to say the public won't have the opportunity to have

Please see CITIZENS, 2A

A Utica firefighter takes a v monitor,

ackage of hearing aid free package.
Tone usage by hearing aid user only

and factory repairs,

Programmable I of the future... E TODAY!!

Pressure : Warm Stationary Low

To Stanley, Idaho

- 3
	Today			Wed.
	Hi	10	Otlk	H	Lo	Otlk
eles	87	61	cir	80	61	clr
1	83	50	clr	84	59	cdy
3	75	54	cdy	71	51	clr
ee	55	50	cdy	60	44	cir
3	74	57	cdy	69	49	clr
rk City	80	67	rain :	72	64	cdy
	53	41	cdy	69	40	clr
	88	74	rain	85	71	cdy
on	63	51	cdy	69	46	cdy
phia	78	65	rain	71	59	cdy
:	97	70	cir	89	74	cdy
gh	66	58	ody	61	47	cdy
d,Ore.	64	53	rain	64	52	cdy
City	68	34	clr	67	42	cdy
	79	47	cdy	74	44	cir
яd	80	68	rain	73	56	cir
tento	82	54	cir	84	51	clr
ke City	80.	47	cdy	59	49	rain
itonio	88	60	cir	88	62	cir
ego	78	60	clr	77	61	cir
Fe ·	79	35	clr	72	45	cdy
ne	62	48	cdy	62	42	cdy
3	68	41	cir	77	44	cdy
	77	51	clr	84	56	cir
a	72	45	clr	82	52	cdy

Н	L0	Wthr		INFO
3	77	pc		■ N.Y. Thruway
5	60	rain		conditions
5	76	pc	3	(800) 847-8929
2	41	pc	:	■ Aviation
1	53	clr	:	(800) 992-7433
9	73	cir	:	Travel, skl.
3	88	rain	:	leaf information
3	59	clr	:	(800) 225-5697

Reed said he expects the 2007

said the board is planning a PowerPoint presentation for the public hearing on the budget.

want to come to that meeting for a review," Payne said. "It's a little "We will go over the entire different than what previous

The trend continued this year extend a little longer if weather with $1,700 in losses and flood-dam- cooperates, she said.

Citizens won't sit in on N. Hartford budget reviews

Continued from 1A

input until the budget is actually presented at a public hearing."

"I'm sure everyone along the would have been without the mood. Marina for the past 10 years or

The Citizens Budget Review Committee was formed two years ago under a resolution that also approved the creation of a property assessment review committee. I refused to release copies of the town Councilman John C. Waszkiewicz III said.

Waszkiewicz, who sponsored meeting. that resolution, said he's disappointed the budget review committee won't be part of this year's planning, but he hopes residents come to Town Board meetings when they know the budget will be discussed.

"If the board itself is working on the tentative budget and preliminary budget at open board meetings, it's open to the entire public, so the end result may be even more open government," he said.

Councilman Robert Payne III

Observer-Dispatch requests N. Hartford budget

The Observer-Dispatch filed a Freedom of Information request Monday for copies of the working draft of the 2007 town of New Hartford budget. Town officials Saturday working draft, which had been referenced repeatedly during a public longer because they are originally

"It's just a bunch of paperwork," town Supervisor Earle Reed said Monday. "It's a work in progress. It's rough figures, nothing set in stone."

The town must respond to the request within five business days of receipt.

budget to be somewhere around

$12.3 million. Money will be borrowed for at least three items - two trucks for the town highway department and a generic environmental impact study, Reed said. The environmental study, which could cost about $350,000, could address growth and water drainage issues in the southern half of town.

Reed said Town Board members and department leaders will continue to work on a tentative budget, which has to be filed with the town clerk no later than Sept. 30. After that date. the public can get copies of the budget, which will be the subject of a public hearing before the board votes on it in November.

budget with all residents who administrations have done in the past, but this should be a very informative meeting (Reed is) planning to put on."

Telephone calls Monday to Councilman David Reynolds and Councilman Richard Woodland were not returned.

Tilden Avenue resident Russell Cerminaro, who sat for two years on the budget review committee, said Monday he did not know the committee won't be allowed to participate in budget discussions. He does plan, however, to get a copy of the tentative budget and review it on his own.

"What we brought was a closer look at the budget and a better review of the budget process," Cerminaro said. "I thought we had some impact on what was going on there and certainly (residents) won't have any impact without a citizens committee."

Skermont says software problems fixed over weekend

Continued from 1A

the result of the district's conversion to the new software program. left many students with multiple study hall periods in place of required courses.

Counselors and other district staff worked all weekend. Skermont said.

And a server was added to allevi-

Skermont said.

But Jasmine's father. Richard Wiggins, is concerned because missing classes could affect her graduation. he said.

"What if she is missing a class that will prevent her from moving to 12th grade?" Wiggins said.

When Kelly Seminaro's son Dominick, a junior, got his schedule this year, he was missing lunch year's problems were severe.

"I hope now everything will get back to normal over there." Seminaro said.

Dominick isn't concerned about starting math class a week late:

"I'm not worried about it. I'll be fine." Dominick said.

RA Dudrak The Window King!

Tis the Season for